Mark Morales

Director of Corporate Accounts, Customized Assurance

Lloyd's Register

Mark is the Corporate Accounts Director of the Americas at Lloyd's Register. He has worked in the certification and audit industry for over six years, creating bespoke 'fit for purpose' audit programs that provide value for customers and their stakeholders.

Originally with a focus in core QHSE certifications, his expertise has shifted to supply chain services, information security, and food safety. Mark is bilingual and experienced in working in global environments where companies must be dynamic but ensure risk has been mitigated.

With experience developing customized programs that take a prescriptive approach to mitigating risk, he can ensure you intelligently focus your efforts where you can make the largest impact while helping drive strategy.
